ARTISTIC HOMES

HERBERT C. CHIVERS, ARCHITECT, ST. LOUIS.

INTRODUCTORY.

THE object of this publication is to put into the most compact form, a general compilation of my former designs, which have been published and copyrighted from time-to-time, in my smaller books.

Another object has been that parties ordering my smaller 608-page books, would often complain of an insufficient number of plates from which to indicate their desires.

I believe that with this publication, most anyone can secure an idea or two, at least, sufficient to explain their needs in plan arrangement, and form a nucleus or basis on which we can successfully develop and work-out a satisfactory plan.

Small books of plans have been published heretofore by so-called plan associations, and publishing companies, but nothing has yet been produced by a regular practicing architect on this stupendous scale, and devoted entirely to moderate-cost houses.

When it is considered that nearly every page of this book contains very expensive plate-matter, for a building drawings and cuts must first be made, some idea cause you more worry as production can be imagined, therefore, defective work is always be.

A reliable and well-to-do interest of better house plans, that architect and formulate your ideas is work freely as an incentive working plans made, including legally attractive, and thus tails of construction, giving box-frames, etc.

The cheap builder will endeavor to underbid districts.

competitor and sometimes by his so-called knowledge and plan arrangement, erect a "night-mare" appearance. nominal architect's fee the building could have had at its architectural beauty and design.

ARTISTIC HOMES

ARTISTIC HOMES.

This book is a work of building information, not a highly polished fancy picture book. It contains many plans and all possible information that we can give its readers for the price of same.

The main object of this book is, that parties intending building may be enabled to more intelligently describe their wants and needs in plan and arrangement.

The designs given herein will probably serve as a basis on which to express your desires in regard to plans. By referring to a portion of one, and a portion of another, you can give us a clear enough outline from which to work. In this manner we can generally arrive very promptly at about what is wanted.

A CHOICE AMBITION.

Building a home is a choice ambition, especially to the family paying rent. Simple existence is a thing of the past, at least, to the progressive man and woman. Many artistic homes are found in different parts of the country, but the average house owner does not know to whom to go, to secure artistic and practical results.

INTERIOR DESIGNS ARE MONUMENTAL EYE-SORES.

A modern and progressive up-to-date individual would not think of wearing a garment unless taken from some authoritative plate of fashion, and at that, a new garment is usually in use less than a year's duration. Yet many will allow a novice to draft plans of their building, which will be an eye-sore for generations, when for less money, at the outset they can secure ideas and drawings of an architectural expert whose aim, for reputation's sake alone, will be to produce the best possible effects for the least sum of money.

AN AGE OF INVENTION.

Look around you, see what is being done in mechanical inventions, then look at some of the buildings which go up now-a-days, many of them being copies of plans built thirty and forty years ago. The reason of this is that many a person is content with ordinary results, and usually having no one to advise them otherwise, go ahead on the same old outlines. Nothing expresses your progressive individuality more than a modern place of abode. It talks volumes for you to every passer-by and advertises you in the most conservative possible manner. It bespeaks prosperity.

POINTS TO LOOK AFTER.

The planning of a house, where expensive materials and labor are considered, should not be left to unskilled hands. Allow the lady of the house to have considerable say-so in the floor arrangement especially. They have to live in the house day and night and a poorly planned house is generally more expensive than a modern practical plan.

THE NECESSITY OF PRELIMINARY PLANS.

It is seldom that one gets a suitable arrangement the very first time; therefore it is necessary to first send the plans in sketch form so as to make them handy for approval, or disapproval of certain parts as you see. The difficulty is in getting a client's first ideas. And this is sometimes more than making the plans. We have never yet failed to please, and have treated us with due consideration.

If you have any printed designs from which to copy, or mental features, we can embody them in your plan. We can prove on any suggestions offered.

MY

I agree to make your plans for me. I am interested in making your business a success, and my commission, as is often the case, will be to design the very best plan.

You can very easily to design some of the most interesting plans.

Many send plans to my office of a building and I often show them where 10 to 20 per cent can readily be saved, and at the same time secure a more attractive house than at first contemplated. This is where competent advice is of practical value.

It will pay you to travel a thousand miles rather than not procure plans of this office, although I guarantee to serve you by mail in equally as satisfactory a manner and suit you on the preliminary plans.

PERSONAL CRITICISMS.

Many parties who have plans made elsewhere send their plans to me for criticism before undertaking the personal responsibility of building, and for such criticism I make a charge ordinarily of $3, and in all cases will give a fair, unprejudiced and impartial decision.

COLORED DESIGNS.

If you are going to place an order for plans and would like to see how certain designs look in colors and will tear out such pages, I will color them and you can paste them back into book.

The color effects which we produce in the completed buildings are worth the price of plans alone.

If you do not wish to cut out pages, simply put a slip of paper between the pages you want colored, and enclose postage for return and I will promptly return book or you can probably sell your book to a friend and order another, calling for such designs as you desire colored, which will be done free, to the extent of two.

THE "ARCHITECT-BUILDER."

It is right and proper that all builders should be able to draw more or less, but it is absolutely impossible for a man to be an up-to-date builder and at the same time study architectural plans and design as they should be studied. The fact that "a little knowledge is a dangerous thing" could hardly be more clearly exemplified than with he, who with a smattering of architectural knowledge, self-styles himself "Architect and Builder."

He may be able to make a poor copy of some good design heretofore built, but no copy is as good as an original in the first place, and aside from this, while the copyist is copying, the original man is surging on ahead on something new and better. Did you ever realize this?

THE CHEAP BUILDER.

The cheap builder is usually antagonistic to the architect. The good builder is generally his friend, for when he figures on a job he knows that his figures will be made on the same basis for material, construction and workmanship as that of his competitors. My professional services cost you nothing when it is considered they come out of and are paid for by the waste which would presumptively result in building without well considered plans.

Be as specific when you build as you would in a written contract, for a "building muddle" is deplorable. The plans, specification and details of construction are necessarily a part of your contract.

A building difficulty is perhaps the worst and longest remembered difficulty that a person ever gets into. A builder when he is inclined to be dishonest can cause you more worry and anxiety than most any other entanglement, and his defective work is always before you.

A reliable and well-to-do builder will always recommend that you go to an architect and formulate your ideas in a practical way, and to then have regular working plans made, including legally worded specifications, and above all, details of construction, giving box-frames, porches, cornices, etc.

The cheap builder will endeavor to underbid his more able and conservative competitor and sometimes by his so-called knowledge of architectural design and plan arrangement, erect a "night-mare" appearing structure, when for a nominal architect's fee the building could have had at least a semblance of architectural beauty and design.

THE TRULY APPRECIATIVE.

The class of clients we desire are the "truly appreciative," when I spend my best efforts in producing something modern at a reasonable fee. I do not like to have my practical details of construction disregarded by some "wood-butcher" who will argue that he can do something "just as good" and perhaps ruin the ultimate effect. Before any changes or suggestions are followed the architect should always be consulted. Changes should not occur after contract is signed, and this is where the value of preliminary plans come in. They can be thoroughly studied before the final plans are made and are sufficiently reliable from which to secure reasonably certain estimates.

FREE IDEAS ARE CHEAP IDEAS.

It is unreasonable to expect sketches of an architect of his ideas until an order is placed. My ideas are what I charge for and if I offered these free, they would be of little value, I believe.

OUR DRAWINGS.

Our drawings consist of basement, attic and roof and two floor plans, with dimensions figured and marked, four elevations each drawn to a quarter inch scale, and large scale and full size details for everything inside and out, requiring detail. Also type-written specifications and contract blanks. You can order your plans with confidence that you will get everything necessary for the erection of your building.

You can judge the cost of house for a given locality by other houses already built, and the number of rooms they contain. Of course a nearly square house is more economical to build and by improved methods of construction it is safe to figure 10 to 20 per cent less for building from our plans.

SUPERINTENDENCE.

My plans are so drawn that any competent builder can follow them. I am very particular about the construction and ornamental details, which save the builder so much time in figuring and laying out his work, and these details are sent in blue print form.

ESTIMATES.

We do not guarantee estimates. This would be absolutely an injustice to our clients, reputable builders and fellow architects. We do not sell plans on the pretence of "guaranteed estimates," but we give herewith a schedule of prices upon which our estimates are based, which of course will vary in different sections of the country. We also give the probable minimum and maximum cost of each building. We do not send out samples of our work on approval, at least until reasonable assurance of an order is given.

SCHEDULE OF PRICES.

Excavating, per cubic yard	$ 10	to	$ 12
Rubble stone work, per perch	1 35	to	2 00
Brick laid in wall, per 1,000	7 00	to	8 00
Lathing and plastering, per yard	20	to	22
Dimension lumber, per 1,000	10 00	to	14 00
Flooring	14 00	to	18 00
Sheathing boards	9 00	to	12 00
Shingles	1 75	to	2 75
Siding	18 00	to	22 00
Finish lumber	20 00	to	30 00
Tin work, per square	6 00	to	8 00
Carpenters, per day	1 75	to	2 75
Masons, per day	2 00	to	3 00
Common labor, per day	1 00	to	1 50

CONSULTATION AT A DISTANCE.

Think of what you can save by consulting a party at a distance who is absolutely disinterested in the contract or in the party that receives the contract one who is above all petty favoritism to certain builders and who, if any one can will plan and design a building which will be new and original and not a copy after Mr. Smith's building on Jones street, or Mr. Jones' building on Smith street. This is where local talent generally fails to produce artistic results. The field is too limited. They have nothing for fresh inspiration.

MY CLIENTAGE.

My clientage has been built up at great expense. I have put in years in m endeavor to produce artistic and practical results. I give all work personal attention and have no cheap help in my office.

ARTISTIC HOMES

We do work at small profit and as it is done well our clients always get good results. I contend that it is all right to do work reasonably cheap if it is done well.

THE EXTENT OF OUR BUSINESS.

We can take only a certain amount of business, turning out plans is not a mechanical operation, as some would presume. It requires good efficient draughtsmen and personal attention and my time being entirely devoted to the best interests of my clients I cannot reasonably be expected to give personal attention to sending out "free sketches." I believe it a great injustice to expect an architect, or any other professional man to waste his time in this manner and to send out samples of his work upon approval. A lawyer, physician or any other professional man would not consent to it.

THE FREE SKETCH IDEA.

The profession of architecture has been cheapened somewhat by the practice some architects have made of sending out free sketches. When an architect has come to this in order to secure work, it is reasonably certain that he will take the easiest way to please you, inasmuch as he will not make any effort to improve upon your ideas. When you go to an architect, a lawyer, or a doctor, you do not always care for him to coincide exactly with your ideas. You want advanced ideas, suggestions and conscientious advice. Now with the "free-sketch architect," he is after an early adoption of plan, usually an anti-dated stock plan at that, or a poor original made by cheap help. We would rather sell special plans as we like to improve on every job turned out and even on our past work. It stands to reason that no reputable architect can improve his work when he copies one job after another. It stands to reason that the "free-sketch architect" will not care to give other advice when you have once selected one of his (once in-a-hundred chance) plans, for fear that he will loose your order.

AS A SPECIALIST.

I can offer suggestions which come only from extended study and long experience. The average client is not fully aware of the value of plans prepared by an architectural expert, compared with those made by a builder, or even by an architect of ordinary ability and limited clientage. In most professions the charges are exorbitantly high in proportion to the extent of practice, but with us much lower than the universal schedule of fees, on medium-price residence and church work, except in St. Louis, where we charge the customary fees of 3½ per cent for plans, specifications and details.

SPECIAL PLANS.

Realizing that one building, well done, leads to more, we will agree to make complete special plans for the special price of 2 per cent on the actual cost of building or for a fee of not less than $35, including full details and legally worded specifications and give them personal attention. We ask for nothing in advance from parties who are absolutely responsible and are rated. Parties not well recommended must advance at least one-third of fee with order. We expect to fully satisfy clients on every point in the preliminary plans. This is where the value of preliminary plans comes in.

PUBLISHED PLANS.

We cannot afford to publish plans of our special work for the reason that certain advanced ideas would be universally made use of. Some builders discourage the use of an architect's plan, on the pretense that estimates are generally low. Some architects put their estimates high, in order to find favor with the builders, who will quite naturally recommend their plans. The builder should have a fair profit

ORIGINAL DESIGNS.

When you build, it is supposed that you want something original and different to the common-place buildings you see every day. My study is not confined to one locality. I do work in every State in the Union and many foreign countries and a great deal of it, therefore my ideas are not limited. Taking it on the principle that "practice makes perfect" this alone should be an incentive for you to avail yourself of my services.

UNPREJUDICED ADVICE.

In preparing to build, the main object is to have a suitable arrangement of floor plan and this is where you will need the assistance of some one who is totally unprejudiced, regardless of any selfish interests which he may have in finally figuring on the contract to erect the house.

Our interests lie altogether in having you well pleased and in putting up a house which will be a comfort to you as well as a credit to us. We could not afford to give you anything but the most conscientious advice on all points. If given your work we shall feel fully responsible for its ultimate success as to practicability and design.

USELESS ORNAMENTATION.

We do not litter up the exteriors of our buildings by useless ornamentation. Most of our cuts are pure simple outline sketches, which can be elaborated on, more or less, as desired. When we have a client who fancies cheap light grille-work ornamentation we supply it, but not by preference. We pay more for draughtsman's time who can base the beauty of a design on simple and striking features rather than on so-called "ginger-bread" ornamentation.

SUGGESTIONS TO YOUR NEIGHBORS.

If communities could, as a whole, readily understand and appreciate the art in architecture each house designed as it should be would enhance the value of adjoining property. My clients often make special efforts to secure for me the planning of houses for their adjoining neighbors, so that the surrounding houses may be in true harmony.

So many architects have not the least conception of how a building will appear in perspective, when erected, or its relation with other buildings, landscape, etc. I make a close study of these conditions.

THE USE OF PLANS.

Plans are to be used but once, and parties purchasing plans of this office are privileged to build only one building from them. This is a universal custom among architects, and for plans used a second time we are entitled to $3\frac{1}{2}$ per cent on the total cost of each building erected from them.

Some are of the opinion that these plans may be used provided changes are made, but where it can be shown that a prospective client purchased books containing certain ideas embodied in such plans as may be built from, without payment to the originator it is sufficient evidence on which to prosecute. This notice is simply to protect those who might endeavor to use "ignorance of the law" as an excuse for duplicating plans.

It is admitted, even by many architects, that the facilities of this office to produce practical plans and artistic designs is superior to that of any other in the United States.

If any of our stock plans should exceed estimate I will exchange them within 10 days after shipping for any other plans of less cost which I may have in stock, if returned in good shape, for $2 additional.

WHEN ADVICE IS OF VALUE.

When one contemplates building, it is in the early stages of the enterprise that the architect should be selected. The advice and experience of a trustworthy architect should be secured by all means. Do not expect an architect to put his best ideas on paper for you, unless you have a positive understanding with him that he is to do the work. Parties who struggle along themselves with all the preliminary work and later on, employ the architect do not secure full services. The most valuable portion of a plan, and often its most vital points are rendered during its embryotic period.

STATE LEGISLATION AGAINST "BUILDER-ARCHITECTS."

The State of Illinois has recently passed a law compelling architects to undergo a rigid examination before they can practice. They define what an architect is, and self-styled architects, without a license are subject to prosecution and a fine of $500 for each and every offense. When it is necessary to pass

ARTISTIC HOMES

State legislation on a matter of this kind, it is time that more care be taken in the selection of an architect. This office carries an Illinois license

AFTER PLANS ARE MADE.

After order is placed and plans are made and during construction you may ask as many questions as you choose, and so long as they are put in rotation on separate sheet (with space to write answer) they will be promptly answered, and if you will send photos of house during its construction, we can tell you at a glance if the general design and proportions are being carried out properly.

ORDER BLANK.

Please fill out the enclosed order and question blank in back of book as near as you can, and I will immediately proceed with the preliminary plans. These plans may probably require changing several times, in order to suit you exactly, and I shall expect prompt replies, so that I can give the matter attention while it is fresh in mind. You possibly have a view of a house which comes near suiting you, or a partly executed plan, which you can send rough tracing of.

THE NECESSITY OF PLANS.

It is very necessary that you have complete working drawings, and above all, legally worded specifications. It excites competition among the builders, and then since you know that all builders are figuring on the same basis, you can very readily see how the price of plans and specifications may be saved many times over.

NEW IDEAS.

This is not all there is to be considered. You want a house with all modern improvements. There are constantly coming out new methods of construction, new building materials, new plumbing and other fixtures, and as a leader in my profession these new features are brought to my early attention.

CHANGES IN STOCK PLANS.

I will make preliminary plans to your ideas for $5, and it is quite possible that I will find some stock plan in my books which will suit you exactly, for which I would charge you $5 to $25, or I can suggest changes in stock plan which I will make for $2.75 additional, provided the outside of the building is not changed. I can usually alter elevations at $2.50 each, making complete all around for $12.75 over and above the cost of stock-plans.

COMMON-PLACE TALENT.

A greater portion of my work comes from clients who roughly arrive at the arrangement of plan wanted themselves or through "free sketch architects" and then send their work to me to be put into practical shape. There is so much common-place talent now-a-days that can be had for the asking that it pays one to express a little individuality in the plan of a building by going to an architect, who will improve on your ideas and who does not waste his time doing work for nothing and paying himself back when he gets an order by shirking his work.

IN SENDING MONEY.

The safest manner in which to remit is by P. O. order, for in this case if the order is lost, they will furnish a duplicate. (See P. O. money order application blank in back of book.)

You can also remit by draft through any bank or by express company.

We will receive individual checks from responsible parties where 15 cents exchange is allowed.

MY RESPONSIBILITY.

I have been engaged in the practice of architecture in the city of St. Louis for many years. My professional advertising announcements appear only in such publications as guarantee their subscribers against irresponsible advertisers. I refer you to the Lincoln Trust Co. and Mercantile Trust Co. and German Savings Institute and almost any resident of this city.

My professional responsibility and preparedness has been my success and is evidenced by the fact that clients who build year after year invariably come back to me for plans.

ARTISTIC HOMES

We are absolutely responsible and do all that we advertise and still endeavor to do more, and therefore cannot afford to answer letters or devote time with irresponsible or idle inquirers. We have hundreds of letters of approval from parties whom we have satisfied, a few of which we give in the back pages of this book, under the heading of "Here is the Evidence," and many others scattered through the book. See page 833.

We are not too important to take small work nor too small to take large work, but we have no time to waste in soliciting business by cheap "catch-penny" or "free-plan schemes." Our time belongs to regular clients who are content in placing orders direct, and for which we are satisfied with a small profit, and will accept a minimum fee of $5 for preliminary plans. This fee is allowed as a credit on the cost of complete plans, if ordered within six months.

EMPLOY AN ARCHITECTURAL EXPERT.

By securing the services of this office, the best style of design, proportions and harmony of detailed construction will have been procured. Material and construction will be carefully shown and specified, and you are protected on contracts. Plumbing, sanitation and heating is carefully provided for. Your ideas will be elaborated on, without extra expense in actual construction, and with our practical experience the completed house will be satisfactorily built—"a thing of beauty and a joy forever." Where you do not secure competent advice, expensive changes will undoubtedly afterwards result.

If you do not find a suitable plan, send a rough sketch of your own ideas, (see sketching blank in back of book,) and for $5 we will prepare a study of your house if to cost less than $2,000, or $7 if to cost less than $3,500, and give you a picture of the exterior.

PROMPT ANSWERS.

To insure prompt answers to questions always give design number, page number and name of book and put questions on a separate sheet containing your full address, date, etc., and leaving ample space below each question to plainly write answers. Always use our return envelopes when sent.

I am probably not as solicitous as my competitors but I want your work nevertheless. The fact that you may not hear from me again after getting this book will evidence no lack of attention. I am very prompt in my correspondence and I can serve you probably more satisfactorily than a local architect, as my statements will be put down in writing and will be more convincing with yourself and builder than verbal advice.

Parties who answer our advertisements can write us freely without the annoyance of having their names handed around as patrons of ours, or sold to building material concerns for circulation. You will not be pestered with circulars from this source, as we give out no information whatever, and our employees are specially cautioned to not talk office matters, under penalty of their situations.

Address all communications: Herbert C. Chivers, Architect, Wainwright Building, St. Louis, Mo.

HOW TO ORDER PLANS.

When the full price of plans is sent with order, express charges will be prepaid at this end. Otherwise, plans will be sent C. O. D. with express and return charges payable by purchaser.

Individual checks cannot be received, unless 15 cents exchange is allowed. Send Bank draft, registered letter, express or P. O. money order, made payable to Herbert C. Chivers. See order blanks, sketch blanks and money order application blanks in back of book.

Parties not rated or well recommended must send one-third of the amount with order.

WHY OUR BUILDINGS LOOK WELL WHEN BUILT.

- 1st—All framing is clearly shown; no time is lost in figuring out plans.
- 2nd—We take advantage of all modern methods of construction.
- 3rd—Our work is detailed so as to be attractive and yet inexpensive.
- 4th—Plans are up-to-date in design and yet inexpensive in construction.
- 5th—Every dimension is given, including detail drawings of construction.
- 6th—Plans are prepared by skillful designers and can be depended upon.

HERBERT C. CHIVERS, ARCHITECT, ST. LOUIS.

ARTISTIC HOMES

- 7th—Plans are accurately figured and specified and save many discussions.
- 8th—Plans are so easily understood that builders do not waste time.
- 9th—Our buildings look well when completed and outlast the ordinary built
- 10th—We prefer simple classic outlines to common cheap ornamentation.
- 11th—Plans are figured economically in the cutting of joists and otherwise.
- 12th—The buildings look neat for the reason that we study minute details.
- 13th—Builders estimating on these plans know that they are figuring on the same basis as their competitors. This is important to the builder as well as owner.

A WORD OF CAUTION.

Readers of this catalogue of architectural designs are respectfully warned and requested not to build from designs or use portions of plans shown therein. Any duplicity of this kind when found out and reported by our correspondents or travelling representatives will be charged for according to the legal fees of 3½ per cent on the cost of said improvements.

Builders sometimes try to impress upon prospective clients that they can work up something a little different and yet evade the architect's rights at law. No copy is as good as the original, in the first place, and besides subjecting their customers to a cost for plans which is many times higher than what we might originally charge if ordered direct, they only make a common-place design. Have you ever noticed that "sameness" in houses built in certain localities? Why is it? Then again have you not seen a house which looked like a gentleman among a lot of beggars? It is all in the kind of plan you have.

QUESTIONS PROMPTLY ANSWERED.

Parties who contemplate ordering plans are at liberty to ask as many questions as they choose. Write questions out plainly, leaving space for an answer below each one. Also refer to plans by design and page-number, always giving name of house. It is desirable that you send outline of lot, points of compass, etc, if you contemplate ordering special plans. To see how designs appear reversed hold to a mirror.

See index for revised plans. Should any stock plan exceed estimate, I will exchange them for any other plan of less cost which we may have in stock if returned within ten days from date of shipment and in good condition.

Always write questions on separate sheet, with name and address.

SKETCH PROPOSITION.

For the nominal cost of $5 or so, for preliminary plans, it would pay you anyway to put "two heads" to work on this important building project of yours, even if you did not care to finally build from my plans. My ideas alone are worth this to you.

I assure you, however, you will require no other assistance for we exercise the greatest care in the preparation of our work and have excellent facilities, and a large staff of draughtsmen, each of whom are experts in their certain line.

Your local architect's ideas may be only 70 to 80-percent right, maybe only 60-percent, but even if 90-percent right, which is a high average, you would be ahead by ordering plans of this office at 2-percent, which we guarantee to be 100-percent perfect.

The preliminary plans consist of the floor plans, giving sizes of rooms, etc., to ⅜ or ¼ inch scales as we deem best, and a front view of house, and when the floor arrangement and front view is to your satisfaction we expect a payment of $10 or $15 on account if you wish us to proceed further with the work.

C. O. D. ORDERS.

Plans and specifications, unlike merchandise, convey ideas, and these are what are charged for and while in general the prospective client's sincerity is not in the least doubted, it is hardly reasonable to expect plans to be sent subject to your notions, after they arrive. We therefore endeavor to work on the Christian law of exchange: That is, "Give as much as you can" and we show as much as we consistently can for the money in the book, and our policy is to endeavor to give as much or more than is expected for the money, and we, therefore, cannot take any speculative chances on your fancies.

The excellent facilities of this office makes it possible to give you much more and better work for your money than procurable elsewhere.

PURCHASING MATERIAL.

We often have requests to purchase building materials, mantels, heating devices, etc., and for the convenience of our clients we will do this where paid by our clients, at the rate of 5-percent on cost of purchases, giving the benefit of our judgement of values, etc., but in no instance can we accept a commission except from our clients. We receive letters daily with extracts such as follow:

"WE WOULD BE PLEASED TO PAY YOU A COMMISSION OF 10 PER CENT FOR ANY MATERIAL MENTIONED IN YOUR SPECIFICATIONS OR ORDERS SENT OUR WAY, AS WE HAVE FOUND SUCH ARRANGEMENTS VERY MUTUALLY SATISFACTORY WITH OTHERS IN YOUR LINE."

Such letters receive the following curt reply:

"I ACCEPT NO COMMISSIONS EXCEPT FROM MY CLIENTS, AND SPECIFY WHAT I THINK BEST, AND DO NOT THANK YOU FOR THE SUGGESTION, WHICH, IN MY OPINION, IS PLAIN BRIBERY, AND I OFFER $100 TO ANY ONE WHO CAN SHOW THAT I HAVE, AT ANY TIME, EVER ACCEPTED A CENT IN THIS WAY."

I am quite emphatic on this point as it is becoming a common practice. An architect can not conscientiously take a fee from both sides, any more than a reputable lawyer, and while it might be quite renumerative for a while it would in my opinion be his undoing in time. Furthermore, we do not sell lists of names to such concerns, bothering our clients with circulars.

PROSPECTIVE CLIENTS.

Prospective clients at a distance should be very emphatic if they mean business. I get so many idle inquiries, to which I can pay no attention and it will pay you to be frank in your dealings with this office, as I take great interest in appreciative clients, who have ambition enough to have my plans carried out right when they get them, as it means satisfaction all around, and leads to other work.

THE NECESSITY OF PLANS.

An architect's plans and specifications saves money and avoids delay and mistakes, especially, such plans as we turn out, all accurately drawn and carefully figured. They will save many times their cost, besides you have the satisfaction of having embodied style and convenience in your building. It is a mistake to suppose that you can build intelligently without such service. We put your own ideas in condensed and practical form. We facilitate the taking of estimates from contractors, as they can then bid accurately. Complete plans save you much worry, and you are not then obliged to take everybody's advice.

The first essential is an artistic exterior, of clean-cut outline, free from cheap ornamentation or extremes of any kind. In plan, the rooms should be well arranged, taking into consideration, light, ventilation and location of furniture, etc.

ARCHITECTURAL STYLE.

It is regretable to see the lack of appreciation that many have for clean-cut, sensible architectural design. Many go to the expense to have carefully-drawn plans made, and then show an utter disregard as to whether it is carried out in detail according to the architects instructions, and if the contractor is at all inclined to shirk his work, he can often induce a substitution of inferior design and cheaper material, under some slight pretext or other.

ARTISTIC HOMES

To an architect of keen appreciation of the beautiful, these things seem as if the doings of a primitive man, whose main ambition of proper housing was limited to simply four walls and roof for protection, without any regard of symmetry of outline or design.

In order to get the best results, select a good honest conscientious and intelligent builder. If he is one who believes an architect's plans as unnecessary, he is a "Primitive" and should not be entrusted with your work, for the progressive man does not build simply for protection from the elements, but for beauty as well as convenience, and it stands to reason that you should procure expert advice.

It is all well enough to figure with local men as to about how large a building can be built for a given sum, but having attained this, you then want the best talent attainable.

DO US A FAVOR

By showing this catalogue to your neighbors contemplating building and when they order of us, we will send you a suitable and appropriate remembrance of your friendly efforts in our behalf.

There is no comparison between the excellent work turned out at this office and the work of the carpenter-architect, or the "sketch-em and catch-em" architect, who offers free sketches, or publishing and plaining-mill companies. Architecture is a distinct profession, and is above all of this. It is my distinct occupation to prepare plans, in the best possible manner, and at the least possible cost, and in doing a larger business than any four concerns combined in the country, it is quite reasonable to presume that "practice makes perfect," or nearly so.

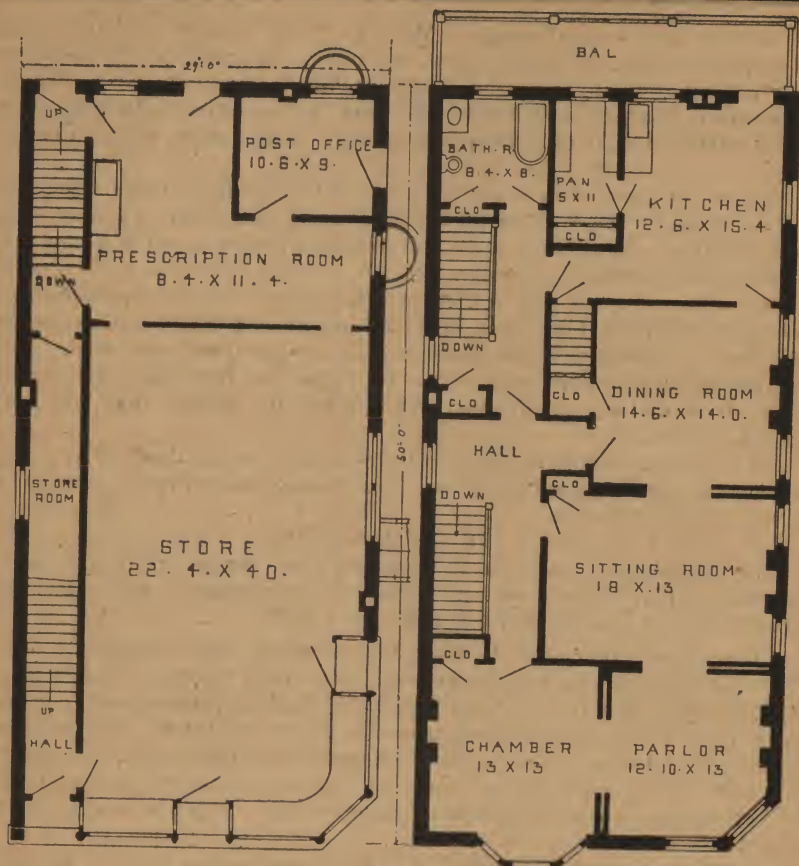

In filling book or plan orders, it is my earnest desire that all should feel that they are getting their money's worth, although I endeavor to give more. But should you not feel fully satisfied, let me hear from you at once. This is important to me. It will be appreciated, for in doing business by mail, I am always open to fair criticism. My success does not depend on one-time orders, I want the work of your friends and neighbors.

In dealing with this office, DISTANCE is no barrier to conscientious dealings. I can not afford to advise you unrelibly. My office is just as close to you as your nearest mail-box.

SUMMER COTTAGES.

As a number of our cheaper cottages are planned suitable for summer cottages, we have them classified as shown on the succeeding thirty-two pages. These houses are figured for regular construction, except where described as summer construction, and basements are included where cellar stairs are shown. We have a special cheap method of summer-house construction, using beaded partition lumber to inside partitions, running perpendicular around the entire room, and having the room free from the customary exposed posts to outer walls. This method will save 15 to 20 per-cent in cost, and we can prepare special plans of any cheap house for $25. See index for other summer cottages.

LONG ISLAND COTTAGE.—Design 1763M; in frame, $789 to $1,098; plans, $10; width, 35 ft. 6 in. by 25 ft. 2 in.; story heights, 9 ft. 6 in. and 8 ft. 6 in. (cut down at walls by roof to 5 ft. 6 in.).

◊ OAKLAND COTTAGE.—Design 1744 O; in frame, $750 to $800; plans, $5; width, 27 ft. 6 in. by 28 ft. 6 in.; story heights, 9 ft. and 9 ft. (full story). Special features—Ornamental gable effect; suitable for a summer cottage. See page 33.

MODERATE COST HOUSES.

PLANS which refer back to this page have 18-inch stone or 13-inch brick foundation walls, as desired, with cellar under the main portion of house where cellar stairs are shown and flue for furnace where practical, with general good finish throughout. Plumbing is included where shown. Story heights average 10 feet.

All rooms are plastered and finished with yellow pine, or native wood, in natural finish. All mouldings are detailed in stock patterns, and details of porches, cornices, etc., are very simple in construction. It is important to have the entire construction of a building clearly shown by large scale or full-size drawings. It assists the workmen on the building, for they do not then have to ponder over problems of construction. The plans are all neatly and accurately drawn, and above all, carefully figured, giving dimensions of glass, location and size of doors, windows, etc., and all information necessary for the successful guidance of the builder.

It costs no more to put style into a house than it does to have it commonplace and as long as discretion is used in the economical and practical selection of mouldings, ornaments, etc., there is no danger of running-up the cost of construction.

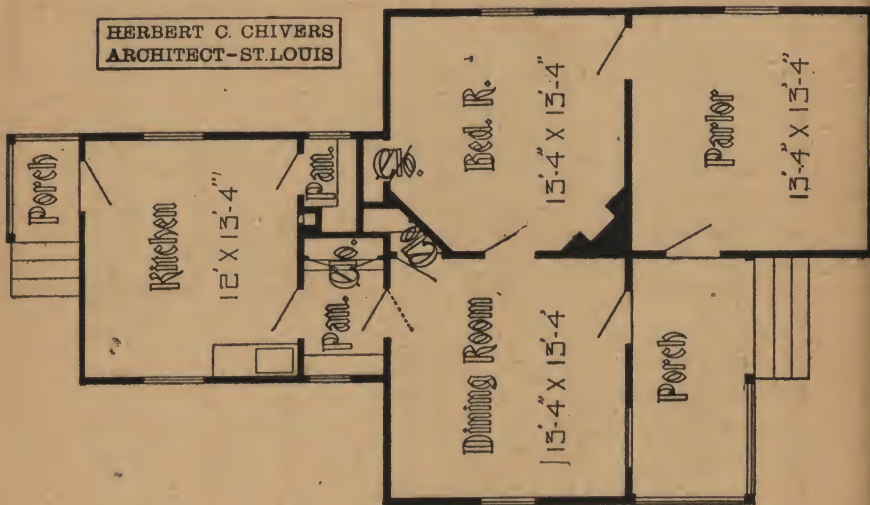

Carefully-drawn plans, details and specifications should be prepared for structures of all kinds. Where you have complete plans, you then know that all contractors are figuring on the same basis, and when you do get a reasonably low bid you are assured it is not for inferior work. The difference in estimates here given are supposed to cover the total costs in different localities, giving the lowest and highest probable costs, and we therefore give no absolute guarantees as to the actual cost, for prices are regulated more or less by the amount of competition there is among builders. All estimates are based on the schedule of prices in front pages. If you have plans you can always get reasonably fair bids. At the prices given for stock-plans, no changes or modifications are included, but we will furnish plans reversed, if desired, or will change any floor plan for $2.75 extra and any elevation or exterior view for $2.50, or will make special plans for 2 percent. on cost of building, or $25.00 for houses of less than $1,250 in cost.

Mr. H. C. Chivers,
St. Louis.
Dear Sir,

Your favor of the 7th, answering my various queries of recent date, at hand. We cordially thank you. Accept my sincere thanks for your kind suggestions. It appears now from the several bids I have received that the house proper, as shown in the design, can readily be built for the estimated cost of $500. I am convinced that building as I do in the first street in town, from such a choice design, the fame of H. C. Chivers will spread the length and breadth of this Celestial City and the house when finished will elicit universal admiration.

Very respectfully,

FROM A CONTRACTOR.

Herbert C. Chivers, St. Louis, Mo.:

We very much like our new house, erected from your plans and specifications. It is a thing of beauty for those who look upon it, and a joy for us. One who invests in your judgment, plans and specifications, before building will avoid the many disappointments and discouragements usually met in an effort to build a house. Were we to build to-morrow, you would be selected as our architect. Respectfully,

B. A. DONALDSON,
Contractor and Builder, Edgerton, O.

OFFICE HOURS: 10 A.M. TO 6 P.M.

Gettysburg, Md. June 23, 1899

H. C. Chivers Esq.
St. Louis

Dear Sir:—Referring to your favor of recent date even say that the plans purchased of you were satisfactory. I believe it would always pay any one to have plans made even if the proposed building is to be only a small cottage.

I have purchased one or more or so a photo of my residence built from the plans you furnished. I am most sure some more changes in windows and my roof.

Yours truly

VARDVILLE COTTAGE.—Design 52-O; cost $2780 to $3500; plans, $25; Design similar to Manston Residence on page 407.

WAUPUN RESIDENCE.—Design 834-O; in frame and stone, $2,500 to $2,899; plans, $20; width over all. 27 ft.; story heights. 10 ft. and 9 ft. 6 in. Special features: Neat, attractive exterior. See page 65.

Mt. JEWELL RESIDENCE.—Design 2321M; cost $3,200 to $3,570; plans, $30; A very attractive summer home design. See page 65.

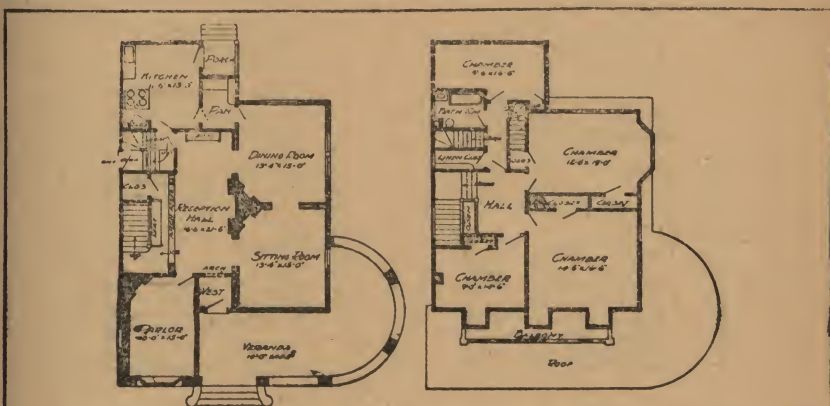

A rough stone tower, with an ornamental chimney giving it prominence, blends harmoniously with the broad velvety stained shingle gables surrounding it, and is contrasted strongly by the moss-green roof which lends a back ground.

In arrangement of plan the large sitting-room is the general-room of the house. The main stairs are so arranged as to overcome the necessity of a rear stairs, as they can be separated from the reception-room by means of a sliding-door. Owing to two of the second-story rooms overhanging porch, there is considerable room on the second floor for a house of this size. The general dimensions are 48 x 32. The extreme width over all is 48, and the cost $3200 to $3580.

RAVENNA RESIDENCE.—Design 2320-O; cost in frame; $2980 to $3660; Plans $25; See page 65.

A simple stone and shingle effect. The stone work being laid random-ashler form, and neatly pointed in black cement, and extends only around the front porch and parlor, thereby obtaining a substantial and artistic effect at considerable economy. The shingles of gables are the natural color and those of the roof a dark moss-green. The first story weatherboards are painted a dark Tuscan red and the trimmings a pure white, giving a splendid contrast in connection with the stone.

In arrangement of plan the reception hall is the attractive feature, divided as it is from the lower platform of the stairs by a wide elliptical arch. The arrangement of fire-place in parlor and dining-room gives an opportunity of building an extra wide and deep fire-place in hall, for log fires. The combination cellar entrance and side entrance is quite a convenience. The general dimensions of house are 32 x 53, and the extreme width over all is 44. The building complete according to inside finish, including mantles, would cost $2980 to $3560.

ARTISTIC HOMES

HOBOKEN RESIDENCE. — Design 4224-O; in frame, $2,890 to $3,000; plans $25; story heights, 10 ft, Special features; Attractive second landing to stairs. See page 65.

As far as plan is concerned I am very well pleased with it and also the specifications and think they will be well worth the money.—W. E. Bartsch, Corning, Cal.

JOY RESIDENCE.—Design 1560-O; in frame, $1500 to $1800; plans, $10; width, 27 ft. 10 in. x 45 ft.; width over all, 27 ft. 10 in.; story heights, 9 ft. 6 in. and 9 ft. No attic. See page 65.

I desire to state that the house in question, as built from your plans, is highly satisfactory to all concerned.—Frank C. Patten, Sycamore, Ill.
Your plans were very satisfactory.—C. I. Cobb, Attleboro, Mass.

ARTISTIC HOMES

THORNBURG RESIDENCE.—Design 2319-O; cost $2290 to $2990; Plans $25; A good corner-lot house. See page 65.

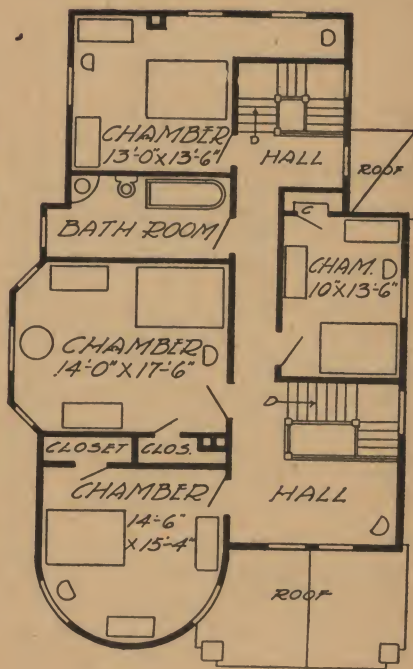

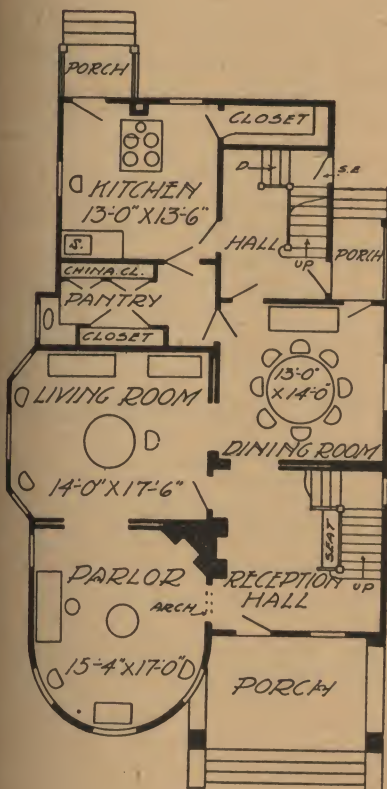

Chimneys built protruding in this manner, of rough stone, are very effective, especially when a few vines are gracefully trained over the surface. The hood-like dormer jutting out as it does from the stone chimney is quite a striking feature. The front balcony is accessible from both chambers. The heavy Ionic columns are befittingly placed, supporting as they do, a portion of the main roof and gable above.

In arrangement of plan, the reception hall is uniquely arranged, with the wide stone fire-place, the art window above, the graceful winding stairs and the commodious bench stairs. The cellar stairs, which go down under the main stairs has a platform located one step above grade, where there is a sash door. The general dimensions are 31.6 x 37, and the extreme width over all 39. The estimated cost is $2298 to $2990.

WAXAHACHIE COTTAGE.—Design 84M; In the accompanying designs, the plan of a $500 three-room one-story cottage is arranged in such a manner that several rooms may be added on in front without making any change in the original building. It consists of a basement under the entire building, with an outside cellar entrance. The first floor consists of a general living-room, kitchen and bed room. The cost seems considerable for an ordinary three-room house, but as good cellar and foundation is something which cannot be put into advantage afterwards, it is a good thing to start on "a solid foundation" when building, no matter how small or insignificant the house may seem. Plans, $35. See page 65.

WORLD'S FAIR SKY-SCRAPER PROPOSITION.

From the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, Oct. 13th, 1901.

SINCE the World's Fair has been assured numerous, temporary sky-scraping ideas have been suggested but one of the most interesting yet ventured, is by Architect Herbert C. Chivers, built on the Eiffel-tower plan of construction, as a wind-brace, with ordinary steel construction to take care of the floors and walls, and to add general rigidity to the whole. In other words, it is the storm-tested Eiffel tower incased as a business building, keeping the first twelve stories within the height limit and utilizing the tower for offices or guests' chambers to a hotel portion as in plan (3) with the hotel offices below, connected by elevators and stairs, with roof garden and pagodas as shown.

The idea would be to take a whole square, such as bounded by Olive, Pine, Sixth and Seventh streets, which is practically 235x275 feet in size, and plan the ground floor with large department stores on Olive and Pine streets with magnificent entrances, utilizing the present alley space, and having short-cut diagonal 20-foot arcades from corner to corner, as in plan (1), thereby gaining 1280 feet of actual store frontage (in addition to the present 980 feet around block), with large electric lights and ventilating fans, making it cool in summer and a protection from the weather in winter, and something which the downtown district needs.

The central, or dark portion above arcade, would be for a very large high-class theater, with promenades on all sides, double carriage drives at rear and box seats encircling lower floor marked "B," as in plan (3), with a delivery wagon driveway leading to basement for department and other stores, as shown on plans (1) and (2), and the fifth to the eleventh floors to be used entirely for the department stores, as in plan (4), with twelfth floor for parlors, with the two-story dining-room in center with high windows to same, taking in thirteenth story as in plan (6).

The Eiffel tower windbrace is so interlaced into the construction of building as to not obstruct in any way, and the necessary location of the stems to this windbrace is what really first suggested the diagonal arcades and corridors above, as shown on plans (1 and 8), the walls of which it will be seen cover up the necessary slanting steel construction.

The encased central elevator service is from upper floors of the department stores to the floors on thirty-fifth to fiftieth stories, which can be used for light manufacturing, such as upholstering, tailoring, dressmaking, curtain department, etc.

The view as given would represent the east side, with 235 feet frontage, with porch covering hotel and theatre entrance, with cafe below, showing plainly from street, and the raised balcony would be about 5 feet above street for hotel.

Some idea of the immensity of the structure can be had when it is considered that the building proper is a full city square in size, and to the top of main cornice is equal to our highest building with the lower tower portion 136 feet square, the next off-set in tower 68 feet wide, the top section of tower 48 feet wide, and to center of 12-foot electric globe 1000 feet high, and to top of flagpole 1050 feet.

The cost of such a building would be somewhere near three million five hundred thousand dollars, requiring about two years to complete, and from a point of investment would yield an enormous income.

ARTISTIC HOMES

CASITON.—Design 2332M; cost, $4,090 to $5,200; plans, $55. A very attractive summer home.

A wide unconventional frontage, with a combination of stone and shingles, with the stone work extending around porch and across front in the manner shown, makes a home-like looking exterior. In place of the customary porte-cochere, which is usually at the side, a terrace and steps are built out in front of the porch steps, showing up to advantage two ornamental standards, supporting ornamental cut-glass lamps.

In arrangement of plan, the reception hall is a prominent feature, with the broad winding stairs and the wide brick mantel opposite. General dimensions of building are 52 x 39, and the estimated cost $4090 to $5200.

MAVERICK.—Design 2323M; Cost in frame, $3400 to $3699; plans, $45; a very attractive stained shingle design. See page 65.

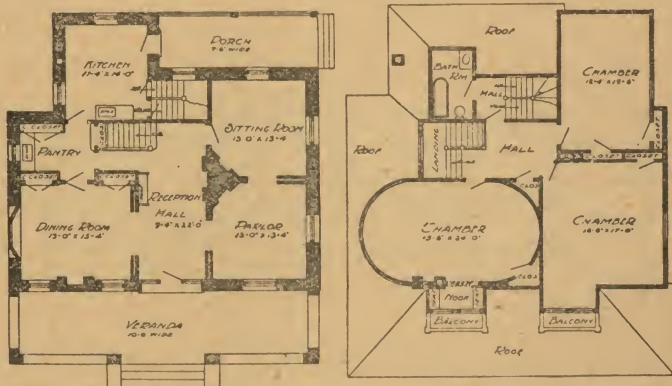

The porte-cochere feature of this front porch lends considerably to the size and proportion of the house. The semi-circular shingled sides to the dormers are made available on the inside of the building as closets, and the shelf-like window sills serve to set plants or flower-boxes on out in front. The recessed window to side gable, and the deep set windows to dormers, give an appearance of substantiality.

In plan, the much-talked-of reception hall is very much in evidence, with the heavy beamed arch supported by heavy columns, the nook under stairs, and the bay and nook at second landing. The general dimensions of building are 47 x 46. The width over all is 65 feet, and the estimated cost $3400 to $3690.

WILLOW PANT RESIDENCE, -Design 2324M; Cost in stone and shingles, $2947 to $2499; plans, $45. See page 65.

A plan which is nearly square is generally the most economical to build, but it is difficult to secure an artistic exterior, and overcome the box-like effect. The rustic stone porch, simple as it is, and the general grouping of the dormer windows lends to the attractiveness of this building. The upper attic dormer with stone chimney and the protruding semi-circular balcony at the side, is strikingly impressive. The first story walls are of stone.

The plan is arranged with a central hall, giving a wide and imposing frontage. The main chamber on the second floor has semi-circular ends, being a good shape for decorative ceiling. In some localities a chamber on the first floor is desirable, and in this case the sitting-room could be used for this purpose, and if the rear stairs were dispensed with, a bath room could be arranged in connection. The general dimensions of building are 43 x 39 and the approximate cost $2947 to $3498.

MASCAUTHA RESIDENCE.—Design 2325M; Cost $3, 200 to $3590; plans, $59; a neat, simple, modified; Colonial effect. See page 65.

For a country home especially the straight, stiff, up-and down house, with cornice on one level around building, is hardly in keeping and harmony with nature. Notice the elegant simplicity of the dormer windows in the accompanying design, connected as they are by a railing of Grecian pattern, also the unpretentious but well-proportioned oriel window, nestled beneath the wide overhanging eaves.

The hospitable appearance of house is carried out on the inside, as you enter, with a wide commodious hall, running from front to rear, and the well-proportioned rooms adjoining. General dimensions are 58 x 28, and the estimated cost is $3200 to $3590.

COMPTON HEIGHTS RESIDENCE.—Design 2326M;
Plans, $75; Cost $4242 to $4650. See page 65.

In the accompanying design the front porch is of rough stone, forming balustrade and posts. This is somewhat relieved as one nears the porch steps by handsome cut-stone columns, set on either side. The two bay windows on porch roof build up gracefully in connection with the colonial gable above.

In arrangement of plan the entrance is divided from the reception hall by an ornamental arch, and back of this a large fire-place. The general width of building is 33 feet and the depth 61 feet, the width over all being 57 feet. The estimated cost is $4242 to $4650.

ENDELL RESIDENCE.—Design 100,044M; size, 35 x 45; cost, $3,315; story heights, 1st. 10 ft., 2d 10 ft. Plans, $30. A good Southern house of plain, neat exterior. See page 65.

Estella plan No. 4, Clark design, with building cut off at pantry line; with sitting-room as 18x17 dining-room; with 13x12 ft. 6 in. kitchen in place of present dining-room, as shown in Estella design; with serving pantry between kitchen and dining-room; with four large chambers and bath-room above. See page 65. See plans on page 608.

DOUGLAS RESIDENCE.—Design 1040M; in frame, $2,500 to $2,850; plans, $35; width, 54 ft. 8 in. by 33 ft. to hall; width over all, 62 ft.; story heights, 10 ft. and 9 ft. in the clear. Special features: Wide imposing frontage; the rough stone chimney and arch lends an appearance of solidity; the balcony above works in well. The combination of stone and stained shingles is very attractive. See page 65.

JOLON RESIDENCE.—Design 100,053-O; plans, 3 1-2 per cent; size 49x48; story heights, 1st 11 ft. 2d 10 ft. Special features: Commodious arrangement; pure colonial design.

When I wrote you for the cottage designs, possibly you mistook me for some one expecting to build. I am a builder, not one of those arch-i-tect builders either, that you speak of, but just a plain every-day builder. I do lots of building through the country where I have to draw plans, but not by choice, by any means. I have tried to explain to my patrons the importance of an experienced architect many times, but many of them cannot see the difference between an architect and builder.

In this country a builder is generally expected to make plans and details and look after the work in general, and lots of patrons do not seem to think that it is much of a job and do not want to pay much for it. If every builder was like myself, they would put more stress on the importance of an architect and take lots of work off their own hands which is not in their line and to which they are not fitted. I have studied over your designs and must say that they are as good cottage plans as I ever saw.—Harry Kramer. (Builder) Rushsylvania, O.

REMODEL WORK.

MANY an old house would be remodeled if it could successfully be done without sacrificing a greater portion of the present structure, and even then, as many say, "it's an old house after all."

But there are ways of overcoming these difficulties, and a very successful instance is in the residence of Mr. J. N. Tool, of Bloomfield, Mo., who several years ago erected a carpenter-planned structure, as given in cut No. 1, and tiring of it wished it completely remodeled. This would have meant practically a new house. At least it would have cost nearly as much. It was then decided to allow the present structure to remain, cut the front porch off, put it in the rear, and erect an entirely new two-story structure, and as indicated in black lines on the plan, thereby giving the house an entirely new and up-to-date appearance, and not disturbing the old house in the least, as shown in cut No. 2. As the plan is only one room deep, the cost was less than half of what might otherwise have been expended, being $1,200.

The views show the "before-taking" amateur-planned house and the "after-taking" effects of a competent architect's design, with full size details of construction furnished, showing all moldings, ornaments, etc.

We can prepare remodeling plans for 4 per cent on cost of improvements, with no fee less than $50.

Your request in reference to my house, for which you made plans, has been received, and I desire to thank you most sincerely for the benefit that your special plans and advice have been to me. I cannot say to much in commendation of your services.

The contractor found not the slightest fault with plans, and he commented you very highly, especially on details of construction. I can clearly see now, where you have saved me the actual cost of plans, many times over, by the ingenuity with which you economize on space and materials.

I did not have the least idea that I could do business so promptly and satisfactory with a distant architect, and you are at liberty to refer any of your prospective clients to me, as I shall always feel that you have been of great service to me professionally. I am told that I have the handsomest house of its size in the city.

The plans we got from you proved about as good an investment as we ever made, and the building far exceeds my expectations. Hundreds have told me that we have the best arranged residence in Fort Dodge. It is a grand looking building and looks to cost considerably more money than it really did, and is different from anything ever built there.

We have never had one person find fault with it, simply, because there is no chance to do so. Get plans from a good architect, save money, and get something to suit you, is my advise to any one building.

Thanking you for your prompt and pleasing ways of doing business, I am yours,

Dear Sir:- The plans and specifications of house suits me exactly. I don't see how it could be arranged any handsier. The bath room is so convenient to the kitchen. Can draw the hot water from the range. I like the roof, roof windows, tower, porch, and cornice, they are so much different from any ^{thing} in the country that will be an evidence that I need an architect designed it. I consider the cost of plans nothing compared with the satisfaction that one knows he will get something that will suit exactly and know how it will look when completed

Dear Sir:-

House is completed and must say it is attracting universal attention, something different in design than they are building in this part of the country. We are more than pleased with it and would advise anybody contemplating building to employ an architect. The important part in building is to utilize the space without having stuffy little rooms. Your plans are excellent in regard to that. They have good large rooms, well lighted and well ventilated.

Thanking you very kindly for the interest you have taken in its construction, I beg to remain,

Yours very truly,

We are debating the question of ceiling for the church
Could we use steel? Wood kind of plaster would you use?
We are now roofing the church and have an elegant job of brick & stone work. The church is much nicer than we thought and the Committee & whole church are much pleased. Many compliments have been passed on the building & when done we will have the nicest job

Sir

You may remember my getting plans from you for a house this summer. I now wish to state that the house is finished and we moved in its last week. I wish you to know that we have a much better house than we expected. It is universally admired and looks much better than the picture in 'Artistic Homes' is very convenient inside and the pantry is a surprise to visitors. We thank you for your services and would no more think of building without a plan from you ^{that} we would of building without a good mechanic. Our builder Mr E W Baughman pronounced your plans the work of a master. When we get ready to build again you will hear from us, till then I remain. S^t W Francis.

Enclosed you will find a photograph of the cottage that you made for me and am well pleased with it. It is considered one of the prettiest cottages in this section. Everybody admires it, and for ourselves, it is just what we want.

I have recently had an opportunity to show the house to a great number of people, since it has been offered for sale due to the fact that I am obliged to leave the city. It might interest you to know that I had no difficulty whatever in disposing of it. The house was sold last Friday. Replying to your favor of the 12th Inst., asking how I am satisfied with plans, etc., will state, that I could not be induced to build without special plans prepared by you. Your advise alone during the preparation of the preliminary plans has been invaluable to me; and since the erection of my residence, I now am assured that you have directed me in a most thorough manner, in all matters pertaining to the economical arrangement of plan, improved methods of construction, modern design, etc.

My building is said to show up in size, workmanship and design better than some which have cost almost double the amount, and it is generally admired and favorably commented upon by all. I would not build again without specially prepared plans for five times their cost.

Herbert C. Chivers, Architect

Dear Sir: I wish to say that I am much pleased with the building in every respect. I do not believe there is any method of treatment which gives as much room for the size of the foundation as this has and the interior arrangement is most decidedly artistic as well as conveniently arranged with regard to service, entertaining, etc.

There was not one cent of extra work; my contractors said it was the first plan they ever worked from in which they did not find a single mistake.

The building has been admired by many and a local paper speaks of it as the finest home on the Heights. This is fine indeed as the Heights is a new residence plot containing about 200 all new moderate priced homes of about the same cost as mine. Any further information you may desire is given for the asking.

We very much like our new house erected from your plans and specifications. It is a thing of beauty for those who look upon it and a joy for us. One who invests in your plan, plans and specifications before building will avoid the many disappointments and discouragements usually met in an effort to build a house. Were we to build tomorrow you would be selected as our architect.

The fact that we are owner and possessor of the building may have something to do with our feeling, but prejudiced or not, we think it the handsomest structure of its cost in the city.

Home, Sweet Home

You have toiled through years of anxiety and hope, and, at last, after patient waiting and close economy you have saved up a goodly sum and the plans are ready for a cozy cottage or a more pretentious dwelling, "A Home," the dearest spot on earth.

You determined a long time ago when this time came that in some certain things at least you would ignore economy and indulge in a few luxuries. A HOME IS A HOME, WHERE YOU LIVE, THE BEST PART OF YOUR LIFE, where ASSOCIATIONS ARE FORMED AND MEMORIES CLING through the widening years and sometimes pass into history, SWEET WITH REMINISCENCES of the past.

Perhaps you never thought of PAINT. So many more things more necessary and more important—and yet—the wrong paint may spoil it all. There's so little difference in the sum total of painting a house, that you can't afford to QUIBBLE about a few cents a gallon, besides it takes a less quantity of a strictly pure article and the cost often sums up no more in the end. The Horse Shoe Brand is of highest excellence, with an excess of Zinc White—(that finest of all pigments)—combined with White Lead, Pure Linseed Oil, and the necessary Color and Drier. Guaranteed and sold subject to chemical analysis.

Don't run any risk about it. Get the best and avoid regrets. You're safe with the Horse Shoe Brand.

Liquid Pigment Filler For Inside or Outside Work. Superior to Shellac for undercoatings. Permanency far greater. Cost about one-fourth.

No. 1 Preservative The best interior varnish for its purposes and price that brains and experience can produce. Less liable to scratch than any finish known. It is not effected by contact with chemical gases, steam or washing in hot or cold water and soap. For finishing Hospitals, Dwellings, School Houses, Floors, Piazzas, Ceilings, Stables, Pantries, Libraries, etc., interior work on Steamships, Yachts, and vessels of all kinds. Can be rubbed and polished or left with an egg shell gloss.

Spar Composition Composed of the best materials purchaseable, is the most durable, the best known and has the largest sale of any Marine Varnish manufactured. Positively salt and fresh water-proof, is invaluable for Exterior Marine Work of any kind, particularly adapted for Spars of Steamships, Yachts, and Canoes. Also a finish for Decks, Outside Doors, Piazza Floors. Store Fronts, etc. It will not crack, turn white or blister.

Pale Hard Oil Finish The commendation and sale of this article has proved it to be superior to any in the market. For all interior work (except floors, bath rooms and stables, for which use Bath Room Finish No. 1, Preservative or Waterproof Floor Finish). Will rub and polish or can be left with an egg shell gloss. Can be relied upon to give full satisfaction when a cheap, easy flowing varnish is required.

Waterproof Floor Finish For Interior Floors, Laundries, Wash Rooms, Oil Cloth Linoleums or where a varnish is required that can be frequently washed with hot or cold water and soap without injury, and will resist the action of steam and ammoniac gases. One coat applied to a new oil cloth or linoleum will double its durability. Can be rubbed and left with an egg shell gloss, which is superior to wax finishing and costs less.

WE SELL DIRECT TO CONSUMERS.

DESCRIPTION:—Quartered oak, Birch or imitation mahogany, piano polish finish. Width, 60 inches; tile opening, 42x42 inches; French bevel plate mirror, 24x48 inches. A design that pleases the most fastidious—correct in every detail. Note the carved claw feet, the elegant shaped mirror, the swell frieze, and the rich hand-carved festoons that drape the front of the mantel. It presents a very pleasing effect, as the tile facing shows very beautifully through the graceful festoons. It is a mantel that shows the hand of the skillful carver, as the flowers stand out in bold relief, so natural that you can almost imagine you can pluck them out one by one. The cut does not do this mantel justice, as it only conveys a faint idea of the exquisiteness of this mantel.

MANTELS AT FACTORY PRICES.

We sell direct to the consumer, thereby saving you from 35 to 50 per cent on your purchases. Our out-put is enormous and we ship to every State and every part of the Globe. CASTLES IN SPAIN

TRADE
FAB-RI-KO-NA
MARK

Are you building a new home?

No?

Then why are you reading Chivers' book?

Oh,—you expect to build one soon.—Not until you have improved several of your Spanish estates.

That is as it should be. Artistic people usually build a great many Castles in Spain before attempting to build one at home. That is why they succeed so well. They gain experience and breadth of view. Besides they can thus compare many styles of architecture and decoration.

DECORATION, that was the point we had in mind when we first sought your acquaintance.

Have you noticed the walls of the Castles in Spain which you have built or visited?

Weren't they beautiful?

They were covered with woven fabrics.

Hadn't you thought of that before? No? But you realized their beauty. We thought so.

Well, the fact is that almost all Castles in Spain have wall coverings of some rich woven texture.

Now, when you think of it, haven't all your Castles in Spain owed much of their beauty to the rich deep tones of color,—the soft light, reflected from the ancient tapestry on the walls?

Really now,—can you imagine a Castle in Spain without tapestried walls?

And what were your plans for your home?

Did you think that your Castles in Spain would be the only places where you could revel in the luxuriance, the depth of color, the beauty of texture, of woven fabrics on your walls?

Not so.—Ask your own decorator. While you have been traveling among your Spanish possessions, he has been learning the value, from a practical view point, of Fab-Ri-Ko-Na Burlaps and other woven wall coverings.

He can tell you lots of things,—how fast the colors are,—how cracks in the walls are impossible,—how the damage of plaster, by contact with furniture, is prevented.

He can tell you many things, too, about Fab-Ri-Ko-Na which you have observed, have felt, in your Castles of Spain, but you had never supposed that they could be realized at home.

Ask the decorator and insist on hearing all about Fab-Ri-Ko-Na. Let him tell you what he knows about other wall fabrics, burlaps, buckrams, etc. It is well that you should know. If you then want to know more about Fab-Ri-Ko-Na, have the decorator write, or write yourself, for samples and information to Messrs. J. Spencer Turner Co. of 71-73 Worth St., New York. 228 Fifth Ave., Chicago. 803 Washington Ave., St. Louis, or 13 Jewin Crescent, London.

BRIEF SUGGESTIONS.

If interested in the erection of a building, for either private or public use, you can secure as good or better services of this office than elsewhere, and at no more cost for plans

Many have little or no conception of the value of a competent architect's services and are content with merely the scale-plans, without the vitally-important detail drawings

When you build, make it attractive. Obliterate that everlasting sameness in style. Consult an architect of ability, large practice, modern methods and ideas. It is money well-spent

The importance of employing an architect, fully capable in design, can hardly be estimated. The architecture of to-day should be educational in style to inspire civic pride

Home-builders by all means secure an architect. Discriminate against cheap publishing company plans. Employ competent aid. You cannot build rightly from mere picture plans

Having a special department for the planning of low-cost houses it is reasonable to presume that you can secure better and quicker services of this office than can be had elsewhere

If you intend to build at all soon, place your order now. It is none too early. Take time to formulate your ideas in a practical way, with the aid of an architect of broad experience

It costs no more to embody style, convenience and economy in plan arrangement than when it is commonplace. Make a wise selection of your architect and depend on results

Your building can be distinctly novel in all respects as to bespeak your individuality, yet a poor selection of architect will represent you detrimentally, with a monument of folly

My ideas are not cheap ideas and therefore I cannot usually enter into work competitively, as many do, at a possible loss, but will guarantee entire satisfaction in plan arrangement (See $5 sketch offer.)

My success in planning stylish houses is in readily seeing my clients' desires, producing for them a better home than was expected for a given sum. Preparedness is really the secret of my success

A special feature of my buildings is; they are not disappointing when built, but pleasing in general appearance. This is due to starting right with the important preliminary plans

Where the work is of sufficient import and transportation is furnished, a personal visit will be made, and a suitable arrangement of plan and design arrived at before leaving your city

MY SPECIALTY.

CHURCHES

My success in the design of Churches in all parts of the United States and in placing Building Committees to entire satisfaction attests my ability to meet church requirements

STORES

My success in Office and Store plans has been the arrangement of available space to best advantage for light and ventilation and an introduction of up-to-date devices of great convenience

SCHOOLS

My success in plans of Schools has given me an advanced and practical training of the exacting requirements of heating, light and ventilation. My style of architecture is educational

BANKS

My success in Bank building is designing classic, lasting structures of very solid appearance calculated to inspire a substantiability of institution. I have built many of late

COURT HOUSES

My success in Court House Buildings is understanding of requirements of arranging to best advantage various uses in relation to another and in monumental effects

THEATRES

My success in Theatres has been in my close study of acoustics, stage-devices and fire-preventative in connection with an appreciation of suitable and appropriate interior decoration

LIBRARIES

My success in Library buildings is: Ability to understand and meet the desires of the reading public in plan arrangement without losing sight of the pleasing and attractive exteriors

HOTELS

My success in Hotels or apartment buildings is in a thorough insight of the many requirements of the public, embodying style, convenience, elegance with view to profitable outlay

CITY HALLS

My success in Municipal buildings is in practical ideas of construction. I also care my work on it, single-handed without favoritism, "pull" or other desirable methods

RESIDENCES

My success in Fine Houses is in readily seeing my clients' desires, producing for them a better home than was expected for a given sum. Preparedness is really the secret of my success

ARTISTIC HOMES

HE EMPLOYED AN ARCHITECT.

HE made a fortune buying lots,
 Converting them to pretty spots,
 And building pleasant homes to sell—
 For Roycroft always builded well,
 Substantial, healthy, handy homes;
 With arches, gables, peaks and domes,
 Piazzas, oriels and handsome towers,
 Half hidden in the trees and flowers.
 Each house was varied from the rest—
 Like pretty women, nicely dressed.
 He scarce could hold a house till done,
 For at least two buyers sought each one.

HOW Roycroft did it, none could learn;
 He was so very taciturn.
 When dying, Roycroft told his spouse
 The secret: "When you want a house,
 Secure an architect at once."
 (He who hires himself, a dunce employes.)
 The architect may make one door
 Serve where you might put in four or more.
 He, knowing laws of heat and light,
 Devises rooms so all are bright.
 Cuts windows just the size and where,
 They yield the utmost light and air.

PROVIDES for all things ample space,
 Keeping everything in proper place;
 Learns what you want before he starts,
 Saves adding costly little parts.
 Remember, it is not the size—
 Arrangement makes the home we prize.
 Outside he moulds the charm of "style"
 From basement to the topmost tile.
 He requires material enough,
 Describes the proper sort of stuff,
 Everything is clearly specified,
 So it is fair to either side.

WHAT is experiment with you,
 He knows precisely how to do.
 What can be done, with what effect;
 What not to do, how to select.
 Saves steps for housewives' weary feet,
 Supplies control of cold and heat,
 No house designed with reckless haste
 But with distinctiveness and taste.
 No tearing-down and building twice,
 With "changes" at a fancy price.
 Your house will rarely cost you more
 Than you have calculated on before.

THE first house I built, I recollect,
 I had an amateur architect,
 And many often asked me what
 Had happened to that vacant lot.
 Was it an air-ship that had lit
 Or simply an architectural mis-fit?
 I patched that house and there it stood
 Reflecting on the neighborhood,
 Till Providence, in righteous ire,
 Redeemed its ugliness with fire.
 My buildings, subsequent, were wrought
 On paper first, with thorough thought.

Be up-to-date when you build. This is too progressive an age to build "spite-houses" unknowingly, and lose the respect of your neighborhood. If you haven't the proper conception of what is modern in architecture, consult an expert first. Don't lavish your hard-earned dollars on something commonplace, when with proper assistance you can curtail expenses and have an artistic and more practical building.

Furthermore don't believe everything is artistic which is said to be so. A certain amount of discrimination is necessary. Try to get something original and avoid "that sameness." I endeavor to make every house different and I improve on every job turned out.

I have never attained the perfection which some have claimed. Possibly I never will, but I manage to keep in advance of my competitors who in most cases are my best advertisers. The facilities of this office for turning out a high grade of architectural work are not excelled in any part of the United States. The fact that a greater portion of my work comes from the East where architecture is most fully appreciated, evidences much in my favor. My work is not altogether confined to residences, churches, etc., as many presume. These are only departments of our large office. We prepare plans for schools, court houses, libraries, auditoriums, cold storage plants, steel constructed buildings, etc., and plan landscape gardening.

SUBURBAN HOMES BY HERBERT C. CHIVERS

And is considered quite an 'home' on buildings of all descriptions.

To make these artistic homes in a few minutes, the architect has designed a series of plans for a cottage, but in the effect would be a small, modern cottage with a porch, a small room in summer, and a small room in winter. On the other hand, the cottage is the small room in the winter, and the small room in the summer.

WRITTEN FOR THE MONTHLY REPUBLIC

The Monthly Republic's series of plans for Suburban Homes, which will be given from week to week by Herbert C. Chivers, an eminent architect of St. Louis, will be found close from the practical design of cottages in the nature of these drawings, but with architectural appreciation and common sense plan arrangement, combined with practical details and economy of design, Mr. Chivers has written a number of books on architecture.

CLASSIFIED PLANS.

NARROW LOT HOUSES

Pages 81, 134, 140, 162, 170, 287, 307, 398, 658, 659, 660, 661, 668, 670, 689, 695, 697, 702, 731, 765, 766, 768, 780.

SUMMER COTTAGES.

Pages 33 to 64, 81, 83, 99, 101, 107, 109, 110, 115, 124, 126, 128, 152, 153, 167, 194, 284, 297, 302, 333, 337, 353, 358, 372, 373, 406, 408, 431, 440, 445, 450, 462, 477, 478, 501, 508, 545, 558, 609, 751, 759, 813.

ONE-STORY COTTAGES.

The one-story cottage is perhaps the most home-like affair that was ever built, especially for the good housewife, who does her own work and its advantages are: all rooms within easy reach, no stairs to climb, and no long cold halls. Some very good plans will be found on the following pages: 66 to 185, 289, 294, 297, 299, 302, 332, 333, 342, 344, 348, 354, 772, 773.

BRICK COTTAGES.

Pages 90, 91, 97, 146, 169, 192, 240, 254, 263, 401.

COUNTRY HOMES.

Pages 233, 283, 331, 480, 540, 545, 547, 559, 561, 569, 609, 610, 611, 613, 619, 627, 628, 645, 663, 683, 749, 759, 760, 761, 774, 787, 812.

NARROW LOT HOUSES.

Pages 81, 134, 140, 162, 170, 287, 307, 398, 658, 659, 660, 661, 668, 670, 689, 695, 697, 702, 731, 765, 766, 768, 780.

PHYSICIANS' HOMES.

Residences suitable for physicians' homes can be found on pages 133, 166, 172, 386, 387, 418, 456, 462, 490, 510, 514, 519, 546, 561, 600, 758, 760, 763.

GROUND FLOOR BATH ROOM HOUSES.

In some localities, or where there are invalids in the family, a first-story bath room is desirable and such plans will be found on the following pages: 208, 210, 224, 241, 280, 297, 298, 299, 306, 312, 316, 317, 318, 320, 329, 335, 336, 338, 347, 351, 354, 359, 485, 496, 496, 514, 517, 518, 519, 531, 533, 534, 535, 541, 542, 544, 546, 548, 551, 552, 553, 554, 555, 557, 558, 560, 561, 574, 575, 577, 578, 579, 580, 581, 583 to 609, 615, 623, 632, 634, 646, 655, 731, 732, 734, 749, 753, 755, 756, 757, 761, 779, 786, 787, 791, 804, 809, 813, 816, 821, 822, 823, 824, 829, 831.

STABLES.

Pages 182, 299, 313, 317, 324, 379, 457, 649, 652, 667, 671, 824, 826.

TWO STORY COTTAGES.

In order to economize in roof and foundations, it is sometimes well to build two stories, yet not so convenient. Some very economical two-story cottages will be found on the following pages: 193, 196, 197, 199, 218, 220, 288, 300, 308, 309, 326, 364, 370, 372, 384, 433, 443, 444, 448, 449, 456, 474, 754, 800, 815.

FLAT BUILDINGS.

St. Louis is the greatest city in the country for flat buildings, and having planned hundreds of such buildings in the city, can give my out of town clients, who wish special plans prepared, the benefit of a very large experience in this line. I give a few flat plans on the following pages: 684, 783, 790, 798, 810.

DOUBLE HOUSES.

I publish a special book on double houses, price 50 cents, and give a few plans of same on the following pages: 290, 342, 684, 794 to 799, 811.

BRICK HOUSES.

My practice in the city of St. Louis is confined almost exclusively to office buildings, apartment buildings, churches, flats, and high class brick residences. I do not publish plans of any of these, as they are too costly to interest the average house owner. I give plans, however, of a few suitable suburban brick houses, on the following pages: 90, 91, 97, 169, 293, 313, 412, 476, 486, 546, 559, 653, 654, 656 to 704, 749, 750, 764, 801 to 812.

SOUTHERN HOMES.

We plan a great many Southern houses, and have given the special requirements of same very close attention. Some houses especially adapted for Southern houses will be found on the following pages: 306, 311, 314, 316, 317, 325, 330, 334, 336, 350, 351, 352, 407, 434, 475, 479, 480, 513, 522, 549, 550, 552, 556, 557, 560, 561, 562, 563, 564, 565 to 573, 576, 577, 608, 618, 619, 629, 640, 641 to 655, 711, 825, 827.

SOUTHERN COTTAGES.

COUNTRY HOMES.

Pages 233, 283, 331, 480, 540, 545, 547, 559, 561, 569, 609, 611, 613, 619, 627, 628, 645, 663, 683, 749, 759, 760, 761, 774, 787, 812.

ORDERING BY LONG-DISTANCE 'PHONE.

KINLOCH LONG-DISTANCE
A 298.

BELL LONG-DISTANCE PHONE
MAIN 1654-M.

The long distance 'phone, of which we have two special long-distance transmitters in our office, is a great convenience to our clients who hurriedly wish to discuss their plans. We can also arrange to receive such messages at 6 o'clock, therefore making the night rate quite reasonable. When the operator states that Mr. so-and-so wants to speak, we immediately find his plans, correspondence, etc., so as to facilitate quick answers. The rate for a 3-minute message in different localities scattered over the U. S. given below, will give you an idea of the nominal cost of such communication.

*Man is king of all out-doors,
Fields and factories, and stores---
Woman has her realm inside,
Where she reigns with dainty pride.*

*Build of marble, brick or wood,
But build woman's kingdom good.
Let her Royal Highness choose
Which of Shivers' plans to use.*

*Have them changed to suit her taste,
Everything necessary, yet nothing waste.
Treat your wife as if you were Kingly consort unto her.*
